【解答例1】

For an overseas trip, I would prefer to travel independently. I feel that a package tour takes the excitement out of the trip, because the experiences are too predictable. I guess some people like predictability because it feels safer, or perhaps is safer, and I can understand this. After all, there are risks with overseas travel and even danger in some parts of the world. However, I would prefer to take the risk of a few bad experiences for a real adventure. This is provided of course that the risks do not endanger my life. (95 words)

【解答例2】

If I take an overseas trip, I think that a package tour would be the best for me. I have not traveled much overseas, and while I can imagine travelling independently when I have more experience, traveling with others is safer at this stage. Traveling on a package tour has many advantages. You can meet people and share your experiences, and even make friends. The package usually also takes care of matters like travel insurance and even baggage insurance. Finally, package tours are planned to fit a lot of things into one trip for a full experience.
